Peningkatan Ekonomi Rumah Tangga Masyarakat Pesisir
Distrik Kaimana Kabupaten Kaimana

Household Economic Improvement of Coastal Community in Kaimana District,
Kaimana Regency

Kunto Wibowo

ABSTRACT

Availability of natural resources do not always make community in those region being in a high level income. This is because of using natural resources by the community on this region have not been optimal yet. Purposes of the study were to know level of income, allocation time product activity, and resources of business opportunities to increase income of household. Research method is used was description with survey technique. The result of research indicates average income of household were under minimum wage regional standard in Papua Barat, allocation time in product activity just achieve a half of labor potential in household. The potential of work is still be available enough and natural resource that be copious can be used to increase businesses opportunities have been standing there for increasing household income of coastal community in Distrik Kaimana.

Key words : Income, allocation time, labor potential, business opportunity